

Our Great Wall Paper Exhibit

It should be seen by all who have use for wall papers this spring. It's an exhibit that means much to every person who contemplates building or renovating. Not only does the showing include all that's best in this season's most artistic lines but our make buying particularly easy. There'll be a substantial saving on any order you may place with us, whether you select the lower grade papers or some of our richest goods. If you desire something novel you'll find it here. We can furnish papers to carry out any scheme of color or design that can be conceived. The best of it is, our papers are exclusive—you'll not find duplicates of our patterns anywhere in this county.

Isaac Ressler died at his home in the west part of the city Friday night shortly before 11 o'clock. He had suffered two strokes of paralysis during the past two years and it was the effects of these, together with the natural weakness of old age, that brought death. Mr. Ressler had been in bed only since Monday, and it was not generally known that he was sick at all. Mr. Ressler was one of the best known citizens of the city. He has lived here since about 1874, and would have been 74 years old in September. His occupation for the most of his life here was teaming, but for the past several years he has been unable to do much of anything. He was a faithful member of the Presbyterian church and an efficient worker in that body. He leaves six children, three sons and three daughters. The former are Mitchell F. of Humansville, Mo., who will be unable to attend the funeral; Jacob C. of Chicago, who is now here; and Will, who has always lived with his father. The daughters are Mrs. Clara A. Humphrey of Polk township; Mrs. Sarah McCole, who has recently been making her home here, and Miss Mary who has lived at home. The funeral occurred at the Presbyterian church Sunday afternoon conducted by Rev. G. A. Pfing. The floral decorations were very profuse and rich. The interment was in the Stringer cemetery.

Obituary of Stephen Reeves

(The following obituary was read by Rev. F. O. Fraley at the funeral of Stephen E. Reeves on Thursday.)

Stephen Emory Reeves was born at Warren, Ohio, November 24, 1843 and departed this life at Houston Texas, March 18, 1911, at the age of 67 years, 3 months, and 22 days.

He came to Plymouth in the spring of 1863, where he was employed for a year as clerk in his brother Henry's clothing store. He then entered the mercantile business for himself, in which he continued until about three years ago, when he retired from active life.

In 1868, May the 5th, Mr. Reeves was united in marriage to Miss Alvira M. West, who survives him, together with four children; Miss Carrie E. Reeves, Miss Laura G. Reeves and Mrs. Celia Reeves Beattie of Plymouth and Dr. Emory W. Reeves of Houston, Texas. Two children, Anna and Gertrude died in infancy.

With the exception of four years spent at Goshen, Indiana, Mr. Reeves has had as continuous residence in this city since his first coming here forty-eight years ago.

With the life and industry of this place during this long period, he had become deeply identified. He came here as a young man, a stranger, to win his way in an undeveloped state and community, and now that he leaves us, it is as one of the best known, most useful, and highly respected citizens. Here began his life work in helping to build up the city's industries, and here it also ended.

Here for nearly a whole half century, has been spent the round of years in honest toil. There are clear evidences amongst us today which serve as marks of his integrity as a man, and of that high, industrious purpose in the life which he gave unselfishly to those about him, and especially to those whom he most loved.

It was in this place also that this home had its beginning, across whose threshold two hands were clasped in firm union, and two hearts began to beat out life's purposes together; and it is in this same home today that we sit down together, friends and loved ones, to note the end of the journey.

Here is his home, the place he most loved;—a good home, that highest achievement ever wrought by human purposes linked together, that sweetest recollection of years that are past, that strongest receptacle of undying influence and honor throughout the time to come. Here in this home the strength of his manhood was congealed into love and devotion, and fidelity. All of his family are here today, and while the end came in accordance with an oft-expressed wish, that his faithful, devoted companion should be at his side.

For many years, Brother Reeves has been a faithful member of the Methodist Episcopal church of Plymouth. The presence of so large a company at this service bears silent testimony to the wide circle of his friends, and to the passing out from us of a good man, a highly valued and honored citizen.
